A. Membership
As of December 2002, the membership of the Linguistic Society totalled 5912 compared to 6018 active members in December 2001, 5937 in 2000, 5999 in 1999, 6231 in 1998, 6393 in 1997, and 6212 in 1996. The active members include by category: Libraries and Institutions (1894), Honorary (39), Life (349), Regular (2726), Student (767), and Emeritus (18). In addition, 122 institutions throughout the world were receiving the LSA Bulletin and/or Language on an exchange basis.

B. Deaths
We are sorry to report the deaths of the following linguists: A. Machtelt Bolkestein, Kathleen Fenton, Mary Lecron Foster, Harold Goodglass, Maurice Gross, Hideyuki Hirano, Peter Juscyzk, Renee Kahane, Akio Kamio, Kostas Kazazis, Jerrold J. Katz, Donald Lance, John N. Seaman, William Stewart, and Bozena H. Thompson; Life Members Henrik Birnbaum, Tristano Bolelli, W. Nelson Francis, Meredith Knox Gardner, Gordon Messing, and Allan Walker Read; Honorary Member Eugenio Coseriu.

C. Elections
In 2002, the Nominating Committee (Beth Levin, chair) submitted the following slate: Vice President/President-Elect (2003) Joan Bybee (U NM); members of the Executive Committee: Alice Harris (U Stony Brook-SUNY), Larry Hyman (UC-Berkeley), Maria Polinsky (UC-San Diego), and Gillian Sankoff (Penn). Over 600 ballots were received in the Secretariat by 1 December, and the following members were elected: Vice President/President-Elect: Joan Bybee; Executive Committee: Larry Hyman and Gillian Sankoff.

In addition, the Executive Committee nominated: Editor (2003): Brian Joseph (OH SU) and Secretary-Treasurer (2003): Sally McConnell-Ginet (Cornell U). Both were elected to office.

D. Audit Report
The 77th Annual Meeting of the Linguistic Society of America was held at the Hilton Atlanta and Towers Hotel, 2-5 January 2003. The American Dialect Society, North American Association for the History of the Language Sciences, Society for Pidgin and Creole Linguistics, and the Society for the Study of the Indigenous Languages of the Americas met in conjunction with the LSA. There were 800 registered participants.

The Annual Business Meeting was held 3 January and attended by approximately 100 members. The Secretary-Treasurer reported highlights of actions taken by the Executive Committee on 2 January. At the recommendation of the Executive Committee, the members elected Karumuri Venkata Subbarao (Delhi University) for honorary membership. The citation presented read:

Karumuri Venkata Subbarao, Delhi University, India. Professor of linguistics at Delhi University, Subbarao has served Indian/South Asian and general linguistics in many ways. His research combines a focus on linguistic theory with field work on various languages of India, including Hindi and Telugu, but most significantly the so-called tribal languages, especially in the Tibeto-Burman area, but now also branching out to Munda languages. Most of these languages are on the endangered list. The significance of his on-site work on these languages extends far beyond the specific data that it adds to our knowledge of human language and the theoretical challenges posed by some of these data. Moreover, by taking students from his department along on his field trips, he is providing valuable training for new generations of linguists that are able to continue doing this valuable work.

Subbarao received his PhD in linguistics from the University of Illinois (Urbana-Champaign) in 1973 with a dissertation on "Noun phrase complementation in Hindi" and has been on the faculty of the Delhi University Linguistics Department since then. He has repeatedly been head of his department, has organized numerous conferences and workshops on South Asian linguistics at Delhi University and has secured for his department repeated financial support for research on South Asian languages. He has supervised 35 M Phil dissertations and 8 PhD dissertations; served as external examiner and consultant for dissertations and promotion decisions at numerous Indian and U.S. universities; served on the editorial board of Indian Linguistics, South Asian Languages Review, International Journal of Dravidian Linguistics, Linguistic Analysis, and Papers in Linguistics, has been Vice President of the Indian Linguistic Society, and was nominated President-Elect of the Dravidian Linguistic Society. He has been a Fulbright Fellow at the University of Chicago and Fellow at Tokyo International University and numerous other universities. In addition to organizing numerous national and international meetings on South Asian linguistics at Delhi University, he was a cofounder of the International Conference of South Asian Linguistics tradition. First held at Moscow State University in 1997, the conference has been meeting regularly since (the fourth installment is scheduled to meet in July 2003 at Moscow State University).

His major publications include A study of linguistic typology, language contact and areal universals in the subcontinent (University of Delhi, 1984); Word: Syntactic and semantic structures (School of Humanities, Indira Gandhi National Open University, 1992); Lexical anaphors and pronouns in selected South Asian languages, ed. with Barbara Lust, Kashi Wali, and James Gair (Berlin: Mouton de Gruyter, 2000); Tokyo symposium on South Asian languages: Contact, convergence, and typology, ed. with Peri Bhaskararao (The Yearbook of South Asian Languages and Linguistics, 2001); Aspects of Mizo syntax, coauthored with B. Lalitha Murthy (to appear), ILCAA, (Tokyo University of Foreign Studies, Tokyo, Japan. 2002); Non-nominative subjects, ed. with Peri Bhaskararao, (Amsterdam: John Benjamins, to appear); and several grammatical studies of South Asian 'tribal' languages, in various stages of preparation.

Other reports were presented by the chair of the Program Committee, the director-designate of the 2003 Linguistic Institute, and the Editor of Language.

Frederick J. Newmeyer, LSA President, presented the 4th bienniel Linguistics, Language and the Public Award to John Rickford. The award was established to recognize individuals engaged in ongoing efforts to educate the public about linguistics and language. The citation presented read: John Rickford's career has placed a consistent priority on educating the public about matters related to languages and cultures of the African diaspora, especially African-Americans. His research helps the public recognize the systematicity of vernacular varieties of language, a recognition that is significant in countering racism in educational policies. His recent co-authored work, Spoken Soul, enlightens readers about those issues, at a particularly important moment in time, following the widely publicized debates about Ebonics and education.

Anthony Aristar and Helen Dry received the third Victoria A. Fromkin Prize for Distinguished Service. The prize was established in 2000 to recognize extraordinary service to the Society and the discipline. The citation read:

The Victoria A. Fromkin Distinguished Service Prize is going this year to Anthony Aristar and Helen Aristar-Dry for their extraordinary contributions to the field of linguistics through LINGUIST LIST. They and their efficient and effective crew at Eastern Michigan University have led linguists into the new electronic world. The LSA and its members offer them this small token of our great appreciation.

The Resolutions Committee, (William Kretzschmar, chair, Stephen Anderson and Eve Clark) presented the following resolutions which were unanimously approved:

1. For their services in organizing the program for the Annual Meeting in Atlanta, our sincere thanks to the Program Committee: Chris Barker, Diane Brentari, William Idsardi, Kathleen Ferrara, Catherine Ringen, Margaret Speas, Rosalind Thornton, and its chair, John Whitman. For organizing the programs of our sister societies that meet jointly with us, our collegial thanks to Allan Metcalf of the American Dialect Society, Michael Mackert of the North American Association for the History of the Language Sciences, Tometro Hopkins of the Society for Pidgin and Creole Linguistics, and Victor Golla of the Society for the Study of the Indigenous Languages of the Americas. And for their hospitality, Southern style, in welcoming us to Atlanta and working out Local Arrangements for the Annual Meeting, our warm thanks to Michael Covington and Mary Zeigler, co-chairs; to Stephanie Lindeman, Victor Osinubi, Thomas Klein, Frank Arasanyin, Mildred Pate, Iyabo Osiapem, and Justus Kanstein; and to the many student volunteers from Georgia State University and the University of Georgia. We recognize the great contributions that all of these people have made to the membership of the society, and we can only hope that our thanks will be some compensation for all of the time and effort that they have contributed to our scholarly and personal welfare.

2. For their service to the Society as officers of the organization, our special thanks to Walt Wolfram, Past President, and to outgoing members of the Executive Committee, Donna Jo Napoli and John Ohala. Our thanks as well to the Bloch Fellow for the 2001 Linguistic Institute, Cynthia Clopper, and to the organizer of the 2002 Summer Program, Dieter Stein, of the University of Düsseldorf.

3. Finally, our sincere, warm, and special thanks to the staff of the Society, Mary Niebuhr, Sharon Winkler, and Zoe Barbey, and to our Executive Director, Maggie Reynolds.

Two other resolutions presented by the Resolutions Committee were passed by a majority of the members present and referred to the membership at large for a vote. [Ballots are inserts in this bulletin.] At the invitation of the Committee Chair, Gregory Ward spoke to the issue addressed in the first resolution, and Ray Jackendoff spoke to the issue addressed in the second:

1. WHEREAS linguists, translators, and interpreters serving at the Defense Language Institute have made important contributions to the nation's defense since the Institute's inception;

WHEREAS language specialists fluent in Arabic and other critical languages are especially vital to U.S. national security at this time;

WHEREAS the General Accounting Office reports that there is currently a serious shortage of such linguists in the military;

WHEREAS the military's recent dismissal of highly trained and highly skilled language specialists who are gay or lesbian presents a significant risk to national security;

WHEREAS sexual orientation is irrelevant to one's job performance, and discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation is unjust;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Linguistic Society of America make known its opposition to the U.S. military's policy of dismissing linguists, translators, interpreters, or other members of the armed forces on the basis of their sexual orientation.

2. WHEREAS there have been calls for and instances of boycotts of individual scholars (faculty, students, and administration) and their universities, in response to the actions and policies of the governments of the countries or regions where these scholars work, or to the scholars' religion or ethnicity,

LET IT BE RESOLVED that the Linguistic Society of America opposes all discrimination and political sanctions against scholars in any aspect of professional life (such as employment, publications, promotion, conference participation, educational exchanges, and research collaboration), where such discrimination is based not on the conduct of the scholars themselves, but solely on the scholars' religion or ethnicity, or on the actions or policies of the countries or regions in which these scholars live and work, or of which they are citizens. Such boycotts violate the principle of free scientific interaction and cooperation, and they constitute arbitrary and selective applications of collective punishment.

Representatives from the NSF, NIMH, and the Endangered Language Fund gave brief reports. The new Officers and Executive Committee members were recognized, and the session was adjourned.
Audit Report

This is the statement of support, revenues, expenses, and changes in the fund balances of the Linguistic Society for the year ending 30 September 2002. A copy of the financial statements is available from the Secretariat.

Grants

Center for Applied Linguistics

The Center for Applied Linguistics invites applications for the 2003 G. Richard Tucker Fellowship. During June 2003 - May 2004, including a four-week residency at CAL in Washington, DC, the Fellow will interact with senior staff members on one of CAL's existing research projects or on a suitable project suggested by the Fellow. The fellowship pays a stipend plus travel expenses. Priority will be given to proposals that focus on all types of language education and testing or on language issues related to minorities in the United States or Canada. The competition is open to candidates for a master's or doctoral degree in any field that is concerned with the study of language. Minorities are especially encouraged to apply. Applicants must be currently enrolled in a degree program in the United States or Canada and must have completed the equivalent of at least one year of full-time graduate study. Applications must be received on or before 18 April 2003. For further information, contact: Grace S. Burkhart, CAL, 4646 40th St., NW, Washington, DC 20016; (202) 362-0700; grace@cal.org.
Acknowledgements

With grateful thanks the Society acknowledges the following gifts received between 1 October 2002 and 1 February 2003. The contributions of members wishing to remain anonymous are also acknowledged with thanks. Other contributions were recorded earlier.

Bulletin Board

Congratulations

Heidi Byrnes (Georgetown U) received the Award for Distinguished Service in the Profession from the Association of Departments of Foreign Languages.
Connie Dickinson (U OR) received a research grant from the Endangered Languages Fund.

Naomi Nagy (U NH) received a research grant from the Endangered Languages Fund.

John Rickford (Stanford U) received the Anthropology in Media Award from the American Anthropological Association for his efforts to inform the general public about the cultural, historical, and linguistic background of African-American vernacular English.

ACLS New President

Dean Pauline R. Yu (UC-Los Angles) will become the sixth president of the American Council of Learned Societies in the summer of 2003. A member of the ACLS Board of Directors since 1998, Dr. Yu is currently Dean of Humanities in the College of Letters and Science and professor of East Asian Languages and Cultures at UC-Los Angeles. Before becoming Dean at UC-Los Angeles in 1994, she taught at UC-Irvine, where she was professor and founding chair of the Department of East Asian Languages and Literatures. Between 1986 and 1989, she was professor of East Asian Languages and Cultures at Columbia U, having joined that faculty as an associate professor in 1985. She earlier held appointments as assistant professor (1976-80) and associate professor (1980-85) in Humanities and East Asian Studies at U MN. She was also a visiting assistant professor at Stanford U in 1978. In addition to serving on the ACLS Board of Directors, Dr. Yu is a Trustee of the National Humanities Center, a member of the Advisory Board of the Council for International Exchange of Scholars, and a member of the Task Force on the Humanities of the Association of American Universities.

Alliance for the Advancement of Heritage Languages

Representatives of the Center for Applied Linguistics and the National Foreign Language Center have begun the groundwork to establish the Alliance for the Advancement of Heritage Languages. The website is up (www.cal.org/heritage), and an email discussion list has been started. For more information or to subscribe to the email list, contact Scott McGinnis at smcginnis@nflc.org.

American Indian Graduate Studies

The American Indian Graduate Studies Bibliography will be updated over the next two years. The edition will incorporate theses and dissertations accepted at 492 graduate institutions in the United States, Canada, and Mexico and is expected to have 12,000 titles. Led by Charles Townley, co-founder of the American Indian Library Association, the project will receive administrative support from NM SU, College of Education, Department of Educational Administration and Development and financial support from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Kluwer Publishers Policy

Effective immediately, Kluwer will publish all titles in the linguistics program (series: SNLT, SLAP, SITP, TLTB, and ARGU) simultaneously in paperback. The publisher hopes that paperback editions will make titles more widely available, accessible, and affordable to everyone.
LSA Ad Hoc Video Archive Committee

The committee met in Atlanta to discuss the status and future of the LSA video project. Because the goal of the project has been to create an accessible resource for educators and for the public in general, there was some discussion of how the videos might be put into a context that would help achieve this goal more effectively. To that end, members agreed to begin work on a virtual museum model--a virtual museum of language and linguistics. The videos that are part of the Video Archive Project will fit into this model, which will also permit both a wider range of topics (and connections among them) and a helpful setting for the LSA videos as well as for contributions of graphics, animations, and text treating the topics. Sean Hendricks and Sharon Klein (sharon.klein@csun.edu) (co-chairs of the committee) are developing a prototype for such a website, are delineating potential topic areas, and are seeking ways to secure external funding for the project and ways to consult and collaborate with organizations also interested in such a venture. The committee will offer a workshop ("Linguistic Video Production") at the 2003 Linguistic Institute.

Publisher Donations

The Linguistic Society deeply appreciates the generosity of the nine publishers who donated the proceeds from the sale of their display copies to the LSA Linguistic Institute Fellowship Fund. Annual Meeting Joint Book exhibit participants were: University of British Columbia Press, Duke University Press, Harvard University Press, International Specialized Book Services, Johns Hopkins University Press, Max Niemeyer Verlag, University of Nebraska Press, and Ohio State University Press.

Summer Institutes

Classics Summer Institute. Mid-June to early August 2003 at the University of Georgia, Athens, GA. Contact: grading@arches.uga.edu or http://www.classics.uga.edu/summer_institute/.

Allen Walker Read

Lexicographer fascinated by the many different registers of language, who hunted down the origins of the expression 'OK'.

The researches of the lexicographer Allen Walker Read often produced controversial results, but he was widely respected and dealt with all manner of questions about words in an engaging scholarly spirit. He had an impressive breadth of knowledge, and particularly liked to build bridges between Britain and the United States.

As one of the forerunners of 'dictionary research' (or 'metalexicography'), he spoke at conferences with authority, modesty, and wit about competing lexicographic traditions or so-called 'dictionary wars'. He was exceedingly curious about words--where they come from (etymology), what they mean (semantics), how they are formed (lexicology), how they are treated in dictionaries (lexicography), how they relate to place names (onomastics), and how they vary from one social and regional variety to another (sociolinguistics and dialectology). More than that, he wanted to know how people use words in real situations for various purposes: to amuse themselves (graffiti), to be technical or informal (jargon and slang), to offend (taboo), and to mollify (euphemism).

The vocabulary he investigated included expressions such as the almighty dollar, words such as blizzard, and names such as Dixie, Rocky Mountains, and Podunk. Most famously of all, he traced OK back to The Boston Morning Post of 1839, at a time when there was a fad for abbreviations, much as there is today, but preferably rather facetious. OK stood for "orl korrekt".

Born in 1906 in Winnebago, MN, Allen Walker Read studied at two universities in Iowa, at U MO, at Oxford (as a Rhodes scholar, 1928-31), and at U Chicago, where William Craigie invited him to assist with the Dictionary of American English between 1932 and 1938. A Guggenheim fellowship then allowed Read to work at the British Museum in London (1938-41), where he started a Dictionary of Briticisms. During the Second World War he was asked to compile a dictionary of military terms and to do linguistic research for the Army.

From 1945 until his retirement in 1974, Read held a chair at Columbia U. There he could take a critical stance on usage and dictionaries, defending what he thought was good (such as Philip Gove's edition of Webster's Third New International Dictionary, 1961), but also showing up shoddy workmanship in some other compilations.

Read published more than 300 papers, 26 of which were collected in America: Naming the country and its people (2001) and a further 20 in Milestones in the history of English in America (2002). He also edited the journal American Speech, contributed to the Encyclopaedia Britannica, and acted as a consultant to a number of American dictionaries, such as Funk & Wagnall's, the American College Dictionary, and Random House. His incomplete Dictionary of Briticisms is being completed and prepared for publication by John Algeo.

Read was a founding member (and later president) of the Dictionary Society of North America, president of the Linguistic Association of Canada and the United States, president of the American Dialect Society and president of the New York Society of General Semantics. Among the numerous honors conferred upon him was an honorary doctorate from Oxford.

Allen Walker Read married Charlotte Schuchardt in 1953. She died in July [2002].
Allen Walker Read, linguist and lexicographer, was born on June 2, 1906. He died on October 16, 2002, aged 96. [London Times, 8 November 2002]

Donald Lance

For ages Missourians have debated whether they reside in 'Missour-ee' or 'Missour-uh'. For most, it is good fun. But for U MO-Columbia professor Donald Lance, it was a passion—a passion that grew out of a lifelong love of words and an admiration for the beauty of language. As a professor of linguistics, Dr. Lance devoted endless hours to studying things such as dialects, place names, and phonetics. He was fascinated by how words worked and why people used them the way they did. When it came to the 'Missour-ee/Missouri-uh' debate, Dr. Lance was less interested in which was RIGHT than in discovering how the pronunciations evolved and what they meant for the people who used them. "Donald was possibly the only person who really understood the issue," said Adam Davis, vice president of the Missouri Folklore Society. Dr. Lance began studying and publishing articles on the topic in 1985 and since then has become known as one of issue's top experts. In August 2002, he traveled to a conference in Sweden to speak about it, and as recently as [October 2002], he was featured in an Associated Press story about the state's pronunciation. He had been putting the final touches on what many thought was the definitive article on the topic, Davis said. Dr. Lance loved to drive, and in retirement he began taking to the road for months at a time, traveling all over the United States. Two of his favorite places were Texas, where he spent most of the first 38 years of his life, and the Rocky Mountains of Colorado. He would mix business with pleasure, traveling the road alone but meeting up with friends or attending conferences with colleagues along the way. And always leaving time to listen. He had a humble integrity that came through reverence for language. They said he loved many people and many things. But perhaps most of all he loved what connected them all: words. And it is through words that Donald Lance will be remembered.

Dr. Lance graduated from Texas A&M University in 1952 with a bachelor's degree in English education. He served with the U.S. Army as a first lieutenant in Korea from 1952 to 1954. He went on to earn a doctoral degree in English and linguistics in 1968 from the University of Texas-Austin. Dr. Lance joined the faculty of the University of Missouri in 1969. He was a charter member of the re-activated Missouri Folklore Society, where he served as president and secretary and was on the board of directors. He was a member of the American Dialect Society and served as regional secretary from 1976-82 and as chairman of the teaching committee from 1982-1991. He was also a member of the Board of Managers of the American Name Society, a member of the Mid-America Teachers of English to Speakers of Other Languages and of the Trail of Tears Organization. Executive Committee Minutes

The Officers and Executive Committee met on Thursday, 2 January, in the Henry Room of the Atlanta Hilton and Towers in Atlanta, GA, 9:00 AM - 4:00 PM. Those attending were Frederick J. Newmeyer, President; Walt Wolfram, Past President; Ray Jackendoff, Vice President/President-Elect; Sally McConnell-Ginet, Secretary-Treasurer; Cynthia Clopper, Bloch Fellow; Stephen Anderson; Eve Clark; Michael Krauss; Donna Jo Napoli; John Ohala; and Sarah G. Thomason. Past Presidents Eric Hamp, Ilse Lehiste, Peter Ladefoged, and Arnold Zwicky were present by invitation as were Donna Christian, President of the Center for Applied Linguistics; Dennis Preston, Director-designate of the 2003 Linguistic Institute; Jay Jasanoff, Alec Marantz, and James Huang representing the 2005 Linguistic Institute; and Joan Bybee, incoming Vice-President/President-Elect. Mary M. Niebuhr and Margaret W. Reynolds represented the Secretariat.

President's Business

Appointed: (1) Ray Jackendoff, Frederick Newmeyer, Joan Bybee, Past President D. Terence Langendoen, and Sally McConnell-Ginet to serve on the Finance Committee for 2003. Dr. Langendoen’s appointment is for a period of three years, replacing Past President Eugene Nida, who has served over 30 years on this Committee. The Executive Committee noted Dr. Nida’s long service to the Society with a motion of great appreciation. (2) Sharon Klein to serve as chair of the Ad Hoc Advisory Committee on Web-based Materials on Language for 2003. Nominated: Peter Culicover to serve on the Program Committee for a three-year term. Named: Margaret W. Reynolds Associate Secretary in order to execute various government required documents. Voted to be a party as an amicus curiae in the Alaska language rights case as suggested by Peter Tiersma. Further, the Committee voted their appreciation to Dr. Tiersma for his work on this issue and service to the Society. Voted to adopt the following access policy for the Society’s archives at the Western Historical Manuscript Collection:

The archives of the Linguistic Society shall be open and fully accessible. Any material written and submitted in confidence currently in our holdings will be removed. In the future such inappropriate materials will not be sent to the Western Historical Manuscript Collection.

Dr. Jackendoff reported on the Society’s participation in a NSF-sponsored workshop on educational reform and human resource development in the social and behavioral sciences.

Secretary-Treasurer’s Business

In her role as Treasurer, Dr. McConnell-Ginet reported the following actions taken by the Finance Committee at its meeting earlier on 2 January:
1. Approved the minutes of the May 2002 meeting;
2. Requested the Secretariat solicit three proposals from financial management firms to manage the LSA investments. The firms should have positive experience with non-profit organizations;
3. Approved the continued consultancy with McMasters, Ryan and Olsen for accounting services;
4. Approved the audit report for 2001-2002;
5. Tabled recommending a draw down of endowment funds; and
6. Recommended the appointment of D. Terence Langendoen to the Finance Committee.

Her annual Secretary's report noted highlights of various activities and projects, announced new life members, reported results of the election, recorded the deaths of members in 2003, and noted the continuing decline in the number of regular and student members of the Society.
The Executive Committee accepted the report of the Finance Committee with thanks and voted in a separate action to accept the audit report. Verified mail ballots circulated since the May 2003 meeting. Received with thanks the report from Susan Steele on the Linguistic Enterprises Project. The Secretariat was asked to explore the possibility of maintaining this site with the webmaster. Unanimously approved motions of appreciation to Cornell U for its support of the Secretary-Treasurer, to OHSU for its support of the Editor of Language and to USC for its support of the Book Review Editor.

Committee, Delegate and Director Reports

Received with thanks: (1) Reports from the Committee on Social and Political Concerns, the Committee on the Status of Women in Linguistics, the Language in the School Curriculum Committee, the Committee on Ethnic Diversity in Linguistics, and the Undergraduate Program Advisory Committee. The report and recommendation from the Committee on Honorary Members was also accepted with gratitude. As requested, the Executive Committee voted unanimously to recommend K. V. Subbarao of Delhi University for honorary membership. (2) The delegate report submitted by Virginia Fichera as LSA delegate to ACTFL. The Secretariat was asked to follow up with her on several projects that merit LSA collaboration. (3) The report prepared by the Executive Director on a variety of special activities undertaken at the Secretariat. Dismissed with thanks the Ad Hoc Secretary-Treasurer Search Committee, chaired by Elizabeth Traugott.

Arnold Zwicky, the Society’s delegate to the Permanent International Committee of Linguists, presented a brief report on CIPL activities.

[Copies of committee and delegate reports are available from the Secretariat.]

Publications

Accepted with thanks the annual report submitted by the Editor of Language, Brian Joseph. Approved the Editor’s nominations of Gregory Stump, Stephen Crain, Kirk Hazen, James McCloskey, Norma Mendoza-Denton, and Donca Steriade for appointment as Associate Editors of Language. Asked the Editor, Brian Joseph, and two former Editors, Mark Aronoff and Sarah G. Thomason, to serve on an ad hoc committee to develop some guidelines for the appointment of Associate Editors. Accepted with great gratitude the new FAQ, “What is Ebonics?” prepared by John Rickford. Stephen Anderson agreed to prepare an FAQ on animal communication, and suggestions were made for scholars to write an FAQ on raising children bilingually. Received a brief report on the redesign of the Society’s website.

The Secretariat reported that there had been some delays in the production of the Twentieth Century Index to Language but that publication was expected in the first quarter of 2003.

Reports from Sister Organizations and Collaborative Projects

Received reports from: the Consortium of Social Science Associations, the Coalition for National Science Funding, the National Museum of Language, the National Initiative for a Networked Cultural Heritage, the Joint National Committee on Languages, the Coalition on the Academic Workforce, the National Humanities Alliance, the Decade of Behavior, and the National Research Council’s Survey of PhD Programs. Learned that the LSA has been invited to organize a session at the 2003 Annual Convention of the National Council of Teachers of English to be held in November in San Francisco. Vice President/President-Elect Ray Jackendoff agreed to coordinate the special 75-minute session.

Executive Session

Acting on the recommendation of the Ad Hoc Search Committee for Secretary-Treasurer, the Executive Committee nominated Gregory Ward to stand for election as Secretary-Treasurer for 2004. The Executive Committee also nominated Brian Joseph to stand for election as Editor for 2004.

Annual Meeting

Accepted with thanks the report of the Program Committee, presented by John Whitman, 2002 Chair, and the report prepared by the Secretariat on the status of negotiations for future annual meeting.

Linguistic Institutes and Summer Programs

Received with thanks the report prepared by Dieter Stein, Director of the very successful DGfS Summer Program held at the University of Duesseldorf in 2002, and encouraged the Linguistic Society of Belgium to explore the possibility of a summer program for 2008.

Dennis Preston, Director-designate for the 2003 Linguistic Institute, presented copies of the Institute brochure to the Committee, reported that the Association for Computational Linguistics had contributed $10,000 to the Institute, and noted that the American Association for Applied Linguistics would contribute support for enhanced fellowships to two students.

The University of Colorado continues to be interested in hosting the 2007 Institute and expects to submit a preliminary proposal in either May 2003 or January 2004.

[This report highlights the major actions taken by or reported in the Executive Committee. Full minutes of the meeting are available from the Secretariat.]

Job Opportunities

Job discrimination is illegal. The Linguistic Society retains the right to refuse or edit all discriminatory statements from copy sent to the Secretariat for publication in the LSA Bulletin that are not in consonance with the principles of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The Executive Committee of the LSA hopes that all the job announcements will facilitate open hiring on the basis of merit to the advantage of all.

The LSA accepts listings from academic institutions under censure by the American Association of University Professors (AAUP). However, these listing are identified in this publication by (ï) preceding position openings in order to advise applicants that the employing institution or its administration has been censured by the AAUP and that further information may be obtained from the relevant AAUP Bulletin.

The Website LINGUISTIC ENTERPRISES is available at http://web.gc.cuny.edu/dept/lingu/enter.htm. This nonprofit site aims to help academically trained linguists find private sector employment. It offers down-to-earth advice, how-to information, and an opportunity to discuss prospects and problems with others who have found work or are seeking it. The site is maintained by the PhD Program in Linguistics at the Graduate School, City University of New York, in conjunction with the Linguistic Society of America.

FirstRing, Inc. A global leader in providing superior customer services, we are searching for an American language trainer to join our staff in Bangalore, India. We offer a competitive American salary and will negotiate transportation and housing arrangements as part of a one-year contract. This position can be filled by a qualified intern and could become a management position for the right person. Our American language trainer will be responsible for analyzing native Indian agents' linguistic skills and for designing and delivering training with emphasis on techniques and tools related to conversational English. He/she will also have responsibility to enhance our employees' understanding of American culture and will work with a team of native Indian professionals with similar responsibilities. The ideal candidate must be a college graduate majoring in English language skills and able to quickly adapt to changing assignments. Knowledge of adult learning theory, exposure to program development tools, and classroom facilitation skills are required. Experience in designing instructional courses (with samples of previous work), preferably in a corporate situation, and willingness/ability to work during changing shifts in a 24-hour environment is a must. A history of foreign residency is a plus, but not required. Please send resumes by email to gurufatha.kaur@firstring.com or by fax to (703) 480-8110. Visit our website (www.firstring.com) for more company information and a virtual tour of our facilities.

New Resolutions

Resolution 1
January 2003

The rules for motions and resolutions, prepared by William Gedney and Ilse Lehiste and approved by the Executive Committee at its June 1973 meeting, specify all motions initiated from the floor at the annual business meeting, if they receive affirmative vote of a majority of members voting at the meeting, are to be submitted by the Executive Committee to a mail ballot in the next issue of the LSA Bulletin. The following resolution, drafted and forwarded to the Resolutions Committee by the Executive Committee, was approved by a majority of those attending the Atlanta, GA, business meeting (3 January 2003) and is now submitted for your consideration. Passage requires: (1) a majority of those voting, and (2) that the total of those voting in favor must be at least 2.5% of the personal membership (or approximately 100 members).

Background

Over a two-month period in 2002, the U.S. Department of Defense discharged seven Arabic and two Korean language specialists (i.e. linguists, translators, and interpreters). All of these highly trained personnel were discharged for revealing their sexual orientation and thus violating the military's current "Don't ask, don't tell" (DADT) policy. Meanwhile, the government's General Accounting Office (GAO) reports that the military is facing a 44% shortfall in filling positions in critical language areas, including Arabic and Korean.

In 2001, the Department of Defense discharged a total of 1,273 servicemen and women under the military's DADT policy. Of these, 30% were women, who comprise only 14% of military personnel. The GAO estimates that these DADT discharges cost the government, and therefore, the U.S. taxpayer, over $36,000,000.

The sponsors of the resolution feel that the LSA should make known its opposition to the U.S. military's DADT policy, as it has had a demonstrably deleterious impact on linguists, translators, and interpreters in the Armed Forces. Not only is the DADT policy unjust on general principles of fairness, equality, and nondiscrimination, but we also feel that in this time of national crisis it threatens our national security.

Resolution 1:

WHEREAS linguists, translators, and interpreters serving at the Defense Language Institute have made important contributions to the nation's defense since the Institute's inception;

WHEREAS language specialists fluent in Arabic and other critical languages are especially vital to U.S. national security at this time;

WHEREAS the General Accounting Office reports that there is currently a serious shortage of such linguists in the military;

WHEREAS the military's recent dismissal of highly trained and highly skilled language specialists who are gay or lesbian presents a significant risk to national security;

WHEREAS sexual orientation is irrelevant to one's job performance, and discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation is unjust;
THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Linguistic Society of America make known its opposition to the U.S. military's policy of dismissing linguists, translators, interpreters, or other members of the armed forces on the basis of their sexual orientation.

Resolution 2
January 2003

The rules for motions and resolutions, prepared by William Gedney and Ilse Lehiste and approved by the Executive Committee at its June 1973 meeting, specify all motions initiated from the floor at the annual business meeting, if they receive affirmative vote of a majority of members voting at the meeting, are to be submitted by the Executive Committee to a mail ballot in the next issue of the LSA Bulletin. Background

Last spring, Steven Rose, a biologist at the Open University in London, and his wife, Hilary Rose, a sociologist at City University in London, called for a temporary suspension of EU funding to Israeli universities, an academic boycott of Israeli universities, and sanctions against people working at Israeli universities, in protest of the Israeli assaults on the West Bank and Gaza. In June, Mona Baker, the head of a translation and cultural studies institute at the University of Manchester Institute for Science and Technology, dismissed two Israeli researchers, Miriam Shlesinger of Bar-Ilan University and Gideon Toury of Tel Aviv University, from the editorial boards of two journals which she edits. This caused a massive storm of protest. In December, the six ex-presidents of the Linguistic Association of Great Britain, led by Dick Hudson, published a letter in The Guardian expressing support for Baker, claiming that her civil liberties were being threatened, while taking an agnostic stand on the legitimacy of her actions and the boycott. Citing their past presidencies, they claimed to "speak for a large body of opinion in our field." In response, several linguists in Britain requested that the LSA consider a resolution condemning academic boycotts.

Two other incidents play a role as well. In December, the administrative council of University of Paris 6 adopted a motion demanding an end to agreements of scientific cooperation between the EU and Israel; this resolution was however subsequently rejected by the president of the university. Finally, Joshua Fishman submitted a complaint to the LSA Committee on Social and Political Concerns that the journals he edits were being boycotted.

The resolution as stated is broad enough to reject academic discrimination against Muslims of all nationalities as well as Israelis. It is distinguished from calls for divestment, in that it addresses discrimination against individuals and institutions whose fates are of little interest to the governments against which the boycotts are ultimately directed.

Resolution 2:

http://lsadc.org/info/march03bulletin/resolutions.html
WHEREAS there have been calls for and instances of boycotts of individual scholars (faculty, students, and administration) and their universities, in response to the actions and policies of the governments of the countries or regions where these scholars work, or to the scholars' religion or ethnicity,

LET IT BE RESOLVED that the Linguistic Society of America opposes all discrimination and political sanctions against scholars in any aspect of professional life (such as employment, publications, promotion, conference participation, educational exchanges, and research collaboration), where such discrimination is based not on the conduct of the scholars themselves, but solely on the scholars' religion or ethnicity, or on the actions or policies of the countries or regions in which these scholars live and work, or of which they are citizens. Such boycotts violate the principle of free scientific interaction and cooperation, and they constitute arbitrary and selective applications of collective punishment.

Nota Bene

2004 Annual Meeting (8-11 January at the Sheraton Hotel, Boston, MA). The deadline for Organized Session proposals is 15 April 2003. Proposal forms may be obtained from the Secretariat.

2003 Dues Notices. Second dues notices have been mailed. If you received one by mistake, please let us know so we can correct our files.

Additional Committee Appointments. The following members have accepted appointments to LSA committees for 2003: Peter Culicover and Toshiyuki Ogihara (Program Committee); Sharon Klein and Sean Hendricks (to co-chair the Ad Hoc Video Archive Committee).

2003 Elections. The Nominating Committee requests that members who wish to suggest nominees for Vice President/President-Elect and for two positions on the Executive Committee, write to the committee chair: Joseph Aoun, USC, University Park, Bovard 304, Los Angeles, CA 90089; aoun@usc.edu. Those submitting suggestions need not, at this time, ascertain the willingness of the possible nominee to run. A brief statement of the nominee's qualifications or interest in serving would be appreciated. Suggestions should be sent as soon as possible.

2003 Committee and Delegate Appointments. In early May, the Committee on Committee and Delegate Appointments will be nominating members for committee and delegate appointments. Your suggestions of additional potential nominees and a note about their particular qualifications or interest in serving would be most appreciated. Send names by 1 April 2003 to: LSA Secretariat, 1325 18th St., NW, Suite 211, Washington, DC 20036-6501; lsa@lsadc.org.

Thanks. To Sarah Thomason who will represent the Society at the inauguration of the new president of the University of Michigan, Mary Sue Coleman.
