Dictionary Society of North America

The society is again offering the Laurence Urdang DSNA Award for the support of lexicographical research. Funded by member Laurence Urdang, the award will support one or more lexicographic projects during 2005 with awards between $500 and $2,500. Applicants must be current members of the DSNA. The budget may include costs of travel, tuition, materials, subsistence, and related expenses. The proposal should include: (1) the project name; (2) the applicant's name and address; (3) a statement of the immediate goals and expected long-range results of the project; (4) a description of the methodology or procedures to be used; (5) a summary budget of total expenses for the project; (6) an identification of other sources of support available for the project; and (7) a one-page biographical resume for the applicant. It should total no more than three pages single-spaced, including the one-page resume. Send the proposal with a self-addressed, stamped postcard for acknowledgement to: David Jost, Houghton Mifflin Company, 222 Berkeley St. 8th Floor, Boston, MA 02116 or by e-mail to: david\_jost@hmco.com. Proposals must be received by 1 December 2004. Awards will be made and full payments sent early in 2005.

LSA Committee on Ethnic Diversity in Linguistics

Minority students who are LSA members and have a paper or poster accepted for presentation at the LSA Annual Meeting or any of the concurrent meetings may apply for travel funds (up to $500). For the purpose of this fund, the term 'minority' is defined as "members of racial and ethnic groups in the U.S. that have been historically disenfranchised in the U.S. and are traditionally underrepresented in higher education in general and in linguistics in particular." Application consists of a letter from the applicant indicating minority status and estimated travel costs, a copy of the abstract, and a brief letter from the student's chair or advisor indicating the applicant's standing and how the home institution will support their participation. All materials should be sent to: Tracey L. Weldon, Engl. Dept., U SC, Columbia, SC 29208; (803) 777-2074; (803) 777-9064 (fax); weldont@gwm.sc.edu. The deadline for receipt of all materials is 31 October 2004.

Language Technology Fellowships

The Swedish National Graduate School of Language Technology (GSLT) announces four-year graduate fellowships beginning 1 January 2005 (application deadline: 3 June 2004). Information and an application form is to be found on <http://www.gslt.hum.gu.se/application/>. GSLT is a national graduate school for which Göteborg University (Faculty of Arts) is the coordinating host. Students may be registered at any of the following academic institutions in addition to Göteborg University: University College of Borås, Chalmers University of Technology, KTH (Royal Institute of Technology), Linköping University, Lund University, University of Skövde, Stockholm University, Uppsala University, and Växjö University. Supervision is also available from SICS (Swedish Institute of Computer Science). The school offers a doctoral programme in language technology. One of its main aims is to provide advanced training in the foundations of both speech and natural language processing technologies. The application areas it currently focuses on are communicative systems, translation systems, authoring tools, information access, and computer assisted language learning. It is committed to an international profile and welcomes applications from outside of Sweden. Contact: Robin Cooper, Prof. of Compu Ling, GSLT Fac Arts, Göteborg U, PO Box 200, SE 405 30 Göteborg, Sweden; 46-31-773 2536; 46-31-773 4853 (fax); info@gslt.hum.gu.se.

The Leonard Bloomfield Book Award

The Linguistic Society of America solicits nominations for the Leonard Bloomfield Book Award. First presented in 1992, this biennial award recognizes a volume that makes an outstanding contribution to the development of our understanding of language and linguistics. The volume so honored will be selected on the basis of such criteria as originality, conceptual significance, empirical import, clarity of presentation, and likely impact on linguistic scholarship. The award is conferred in even-numbered years. A plaque will be presented to both the author and the publisher at the 2006 LSA Annual Meeting in Albuquerque.

We welcome nominations of both specialist and more general books in any subfield of linguistics. In order to recognize the full diversity of the field of linguistics, the selection committee especially welcomes nominations of books in areas not recently represented among the Bloomfield winners. Edited volumes are not eligible for this award although jointly authored books are. Textbooks can be considered, but they are unlikely to meet the criteria for the award (though perhaps Bloomfield's Language might have). In order to be eligible, the author (s) must be member(s) of the Society, and the book must have been published in one of the two years immediately preceding the deadline for the receipt of entries (e.g. for the 2006 competition, books published after 28 February 2003 and before 1 March 2005 will be considered).

To be considered for the 2006 award, a nomination form and four copies of the books should be sent to: Leonard Bloomfield Book Award Committee, LSA Secretariat, 1325 18th Street, NW, Suite 211, Washington, DC 20036-6501. All materials must be received by the Secretariat no later than 1 March 2005.

The Book Award Committee consists of three scholars: a member of the Executive Committee, who usually serves as chair, and two members appointed by the LSA President. This committee will consider all the books submitted and may recommend one title to the Executive Committee who must formally approve the Award Committee's recommendation.

Job Opportunities

Job discrimination is illegal. The Linguistic Society retains the right to refuse or edit all discriminatory statements from copy sent to the Secretariat for publication in the LSA Bulletin that are not in consonance with the principles of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The Executive Committee of the LSA hopes that all the job announcements will facilitate open hiring on the basis of merit to the advantage of all.

The LSA accepts listings from academic institutions under censure by the American Association of University Professors (AAUP). However, these listings are identified in this publication by (•) preceding position openings in order to advise applicants that the employing institution or its administration has been censured by the AAUP and that further information may be obtained from the relevant AAUP Bulletin.

The Website LINGUISTIC ENTERPRISES is available at <http://web.gc.cuny.edu/dept/lingu/enter.htm>. This nonprofit site aims to help academically trained linguists find private sector employment. It offers down-to-earth advice, how-to information, and an opportunity to discuss prospects and problems with others who have found work or are seeking it. The site is maintained by the PhD Program in Linguistics at the Graduate School, City University of New York, in conjunction with the Linguistic Society of America.

National Security Agency. Join us for perhaps the most important reason of all. Freedom. In its most simple terms, it's about contributing to the nation's safety and security. And while we can't say exactly what you'll do when you join us, we can say that you will be with the organization that carries out a number of the country's most important intelligence activities, protecting our country's own security and communications from exploitation. We are now hiring Arabic language analysts. For complete details go to: <http://www.nsa.gov>. Contact: National Security Agency, Suite 6779, (LFY), 9800 Savage Road, Ft. George G. Meade, MD 20755-6779. When applying online, please type LFY in the subject line of your email. Reasonable accommodation provided to applicants with disabilities during the application and hiring process where appropriate. Positions open to U.S. citizens only. NSA is an equal opportunity employer and abides by applicable employment laws and regulations. All positions are subject to random drug testing.

Native Language Writers Festival

In July 2005, the Indian Pueblo Cultural Center in Albuquerque, NM, will host Native Nations, Native Voices, a three-day festival to honor contemporary Native language writers. The writers will read from their works in their own languages. National language translations will be made available to the audience at the option of each writer. Thus far, the list of participants includes writers from Brazil, Canada, Greenland, Guam, Hawaii, Mexico, Peru, Saipan, and the United States. For more information, contact: g.bronitsky@att.net.

Set of Language Journals

The Secretariat has been asked to find a home for a (almost) complete set of the journal Language--Vol. 1 (1924) through Vol. 78 (2002). Please contact the Secretariat if you or someone (or institution) you know can use these volumes.

The Ken Hale Chair

A Linguistic Institute Professorship in Field Methods

At their May 2003 meeting, the Linguistic Society of America Executive Committee proposed establishing a professorship in field methods for all future LSA Linguistic Institutes as a way to address the strongly felt need in our profession to document endangered languages and work with communities toward their preservation. Named for Ken Hale, a linguist whose dedication to studying and preserving endangered languages is legendary, the Chair will ensure that linguistics students have access to courses that prepare them to investigate poorly documented languages even if their own institution does not offer them.

Nearly $70,000 of the $200,000 needed to permanently fund the Ken Hale Chair has been raised thus far. The Society welcomes your financial support of this chair as well. Individuals may fill out the form below and return it to the LSA Secretariat or may simply send contributions clearly labeled "For Ken Hale Chair."

Address Changes

TO: Those who moved in 2004 (or plan to move)

FROM: The Linguistic Society of America

RE: Your Current Address

When you moved, the post office did not forward your LSA publications to your new address. It returned them to the LSA...for a price. We paid $.70 for each returned LSA Bulletin and $1.92 for each returned issue of Language.

Please send LSA your new address (both snail mail and email) in a timely fashion. You'll receive your publications on time, and you'll help us control postage costs.

Thanks.
