Five-Minute Linguist Finalists Announced

We're excited to announce the finalists for the Five-Minute Linguist 2020, which will take place on Friday evening, January 3 at the LSA's 2020 Annual Meeting in New Orleans, Louisiana. Read more ...

Applications for Elizabeth Dayton Award Due September 27

Applications for the Elizabeth Dayton Award, which provides travel, lodging, registration and per diem for a graduate student pursuing a course of study in sociolinguistics to attend the Annual Meeting, are due September 27. Read more about the award and how to apply.

Host Sought for 2023 Linguistic Institute

The LSA is seeking a host for its 2023 Linguistic Institute. Read more about what is involved (.pdf) in hosting an Institute, and read an appreciation from the directors of the 2019 Institute for their take on what it feels like to have hosted one!

The LSA has sponsored the Linguistic Institute since 1928, when the first program was organized by Edgar Sturtevant at Yale University. The purpose of the Institute is to "provide advanced training in linguistics that is not readily available through the regular course offerings of any single academic institution."

LSA Debuts Student Ambassador Program

The LSA has recently launched a Student Ambassador Initiative meant to increase engagement and generate awareness about the LSA among students early in their academic careers, as they prepare to become the next generation of linguists. LSA student ambassadors will increase the visibility of the LSA on multiple campuses and strengthen our connections with linguistics programs and departments across the country. Expect to hear from student ambassadors on your campus during the coming weeks about LSA news and special events.

Reviewers Sought by NSF

The National Science Foundation (NSF) seeks reviewers for the 2020 Graduate Research Fellowship Program (GRFP), which recognizes and supports outstanding graduate students pursuing research-based masters and doctoral degrees in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM) and STEM
