Welcoming Our New Membership Director
The LSA is pleased to announce the hiring of Vy Le as the LSA’s next full-time Membership Director. Vy (pronounced [viː]) will officially start on November 14, but we have arranged for her to train with the outgoing part-time Membership Coordinator, Mark Schaefer, before her official start date.

Vy is a strategic leader with fifteen years of experience in member-based organizations. She has a strong focus on developing innovative programs to engage with members, volunteers, and the wider community. She holds an MBA, a Master’s in Marketing Management, and a Bachelor of Communications: Public Relations and Cinema Studies. Vy was awarded a Community Directors award by the Women’s Leadership Institute of Australia and the Institute of Community Directors Australia in 2018. Vy is looking forward to joining the Linguistic Society of America after having worked with the Australian College of Nursing, where she led the Membership Engagement division with a strong focus on outcomes and a data-driven approach to decision-making.

Please join us in welcoming Vy to the LSA!

New Episode of Subtitle: The Future Sound of Black English

If you want to know where African American English is headed, listen to Shondel Nero. Shondel was born in the Caribbean nation of Guyana where she code-switched between Guyana Creolese and colonial British English. As a young adult, she moved to North America, eventually settling in New York City where she became a professor of language education at NYU. Shondel tells guest host Ciku Theuri that the various versions of English spoken by Black immigrants are rubbing off on Black American speech. Aided by the likes of TikTok, African American English is now going through a period of rapid change.

Special Book Offer for LSA Members: Second Language and Heritage Learners in Mixed Classrooms

Second Language and Heritage Learners in Mixed Classrooms, edited by Patricia
Bayona and Elena García-Martín addresses the complexity of mixed language classroom learning environments in which heritage learners (HL) and second language (L2) learners are concurrently exposed to language learning in the same physical space. Heritage speakers, defined widely as those exposed to the target language at home from an early age, tend to display higher oral proficiency and increased intercultural proficiency but lesser metalinguistic and grammatical awareness than L2 learners. The theoretical and pedagogical challenges of engaging both types of learners simultaneously without polarizing the classroom community dictate the need for well-defined, differentiated learning strategies; in response, this book offers best practices and reproducible pedagogical initiatives and methodologies for different levels of instruction. The chapters address themes including translanguaging, linguistic identity, metalinguistic awareness, and intercultural competence, with contributions from Europe, Africa, and the United States.

The book is due to be published in November 2022.

LSA members can get 30% off when they order the book on the Multilingual Matters website using code MEMBER30.

CEDL Student Travel Grants Available

This year the LSA Committee on Ethnic Diversity in Linguistics (CEDL) is awarding up to five student travel grants supported by the Dennis R. and Carol Guagliardo Preston Fund for Diversity in Linguistics intended to increase the participation of underrepresented ethnoracial minorities in the LSA. Each grant (up to $1000) will assist students in traveling to the 2023 LSA Annual Meeting in Denver, Colorado, January 5–8, 2023, and in defraying other related expenses. Current students with and without accepted abstracts may apply for one of two types of grants:

1. for graduate students who have not completed their linguistics degree program; or
2. for undergraduates who want to pursue a linguistics graduate degree.

The application deadline is Monday, November 21, 2022.

To apply, please complete the PDF form available here and send it to CEDL Travel Grant Selection Committee co-chairs deandre miles-hercules (deandre.miles@emory.edu) and Jamaal Muwwakkil (jamaal@ucsb.edu).
Other LSA Resources

The LSA supports the scientific study of language by creating great venues for linguists from all subfields to congregate and discuss research, innovation, and learning. It is a community of scholars and professionals who have a deep respect for the importance of an interdisciplinary community of peers.
