

Dear Colleagues,

As part of our program of periodic reminders and updates, presented to LSA members in lieu of the LSA Bulletin, please see the announcements -- grouped by category -- below.

Social Networking:

- I am delighted to announce the inauguration of the LSA's Facebook organizational page at <http://www.facebook.com/pages/Linguistic-Society-of-America/106449172711257?ref=mf>. This page provides an additional forum for LSA members and others to access the latest news and information from the Society, including photographs, event listings, and information not on the main LSA page, such as surveys. All members and other interested parties are invited to become a fan of the LSA page. Note that the existing "Friends of the LSA" Discussion Group on Facebook will remain active, but is not managed by the LSA.
- We have also created a Twitter account so that interested individuals can follow the LSA's activities conveniently in whatever form they prefer. Follow us at <http://www.twitter.com/LingSocAm>.

Meetings and Institutes:

- Plans are under way for the 2011 Annual Meeting, which will take place from January 6-9 at the Hilton Pittsburgh. Through April 26th, the Program Committee is soliciting proposals for organized sessions for the 2011 Meeting. The Call for Proposals and instructions may be viewed at http://www.lsadc.org/info/pdf_files/2011organized.pdf.
- The organizers of the 2011 Linguistic Institute, to be held at the University of Colorado at Boulder, are pleased to announce that the following LSA members have been selected as Institute Professors:

Collitz Professor: Alice Harris, University of Massachusetts, Amherst
Hale Professor: Nick Evans, Australian National University
Sapir Professor: Ivan Sag, Stanford University

The complete course schedule for the 2011 Institute will be announced by early summer 2010. Members are encouraged to check the 2011 Institute website periodically for updates:

<http://verbs.colorado.edu/LSA2011/index.html>.

Publications:

- The March 2010 issue of Language has been shipped. Individual subscribers should also have access to the online edition of the journal via the Project Muse web page for Language (<http://muse.jhu.edu/journals/lan/>) by Monday, March 29th; instructions for access are available at <http://www.lsadc.org/info/pubs-lang-online.cfm>.
- eLanguage, the LSA's open-access digital publishing platform, has recently been updated with papers from the 2009 Annual Meeting's invited symposium on Computational Linguistics in Support of Linguistic Theory. Coming soon: extended abstracts of presentations from the 2010 Annual Meeting. Read more at <http://www.elanguage.net/home.php>.

Other news and website features:

- We are asking you to help the LSA build its interactive online resources by sharing your pedagogical materials via the Linguistic Academic Depository (<https://lsadc.org/e-learning/>) or donating books via the LSA's Book Exchange (<https://lsadc.org/book-exchange/>).
- The LSA maintains online job listings, conference announcements, grant opportunities, in memoriam notices, and other news items of interest. Be sure to visit the LSA website for the most current information on:

Other meetings and calls for papers (<http://www.lsadc.org/info/meet-other.cfm>);

Jobs (<http://www.lsadc.org/info/jobs-index.cfm>)

Guide to grants, fellowships, and awards (<http://www.lsadc.org/info/pubs-dirs-grants.cfm>)

LSA and Linguistics in the news (on the LSA home page: <http://www.lsadc.org>)

An "In Memoriam" section listing details of recently deceased members of the Society: (currently at <http://www.lsadc.org/info/res-news.cfm>).

Thank you, as always, for your support of the LSA and its activities.

Sincerely,

David Robinson

--

David Robinson
Director of Membership and Meetings
Linguistic Society of America
1325 18th Street, NW Suite 211
Washington, DC 20036
[drobinson@lsadc.org](mailto:d robinson@lsadc.org)
www.lsadc.org